COMPASSIONATE

We help people who live in dangerously crowded or dirty homes. We will not judge. We will not shame. Our services include decluttering, organizing, hauling away large items, and deep cleaning. We work hard to restore safety and function, with a focus on clearing pathways, removing fire hazards, and making important areas usable again.

TRUSTED

A number of housing and protective agencies turn to us for severe cases because our staff is good at building trust. We'll respect your belongings and will balance the needs of all parties to help solve an emergency.

HOARDING EXPERTS

There are emotional attachments to clutter, and we understand the reasons behind why it can overtake someone's life. When it's time to face a mess, we can guide you on where to start and how to stay motivated. We don't want to be a band-aid, so we'll recommend long-term strategies as our piece of the work is done. Cleanup is a Journey, and we encourage you to keep accepting support, whether that's through mental health care, an in-person or online support group, or help with ongoing tasks that you avoid.
